Assistant Superintendent Meacham oversees high school activities. He keeps his finger on the pulse of youth and guides them with deep understanding.

Supervising curricula is no easy chore, but efficiency is Mr. Sellars' forte. Broadening of our educational program was accomplished through his efforts.

W. A. MEACHAM DAVID SELLARS

Dearest Gary,
It 'sure has been great knowing you these past few years. May we always be best of friends.
Best Wishes,
Kay Rudolph

Board of Education

Joe P. Moore is more than the director of our education system. His genuine interest in the welfare of his students marks him as a top flight man. Democracy is personified in his character.

JOE P. MOORE

Pat Dodson is Co-Pilot of Parrot activities. He responds readily to every call, quick to make pleasant his every association with students. An efficient administrator, his popularity with all who know him is well deserved.

PAT DODSON: VICE PRINCIPAL

The feminine population of Poly find understanding and warmth when they enter her office with their problems. Her exacting duties as Dean of Women never affects her sunny disposition.

EVALYN MARTEL: DEAN OF GIRLS

C. A. THOMPSON, Principal

We hope this yearbook will serve as an authentic record of the school and its multiple and varied activities of the school year.

Due to the fact that pictures now so vivid will become dim and facts now so clear will become vague in time, it is our belief that this publication will increase in value with each succeeding year. We hope it will tend to recall for you many pleasant experiences and happy associations with teachers and classmates at Poly High.

We hope further that:

As you turn the pages of this book

And review them one by one,

You will again remember

"Who you are and where you are from."

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION, a training program in retail, wholesale, and service selling is open to juniors and seniors of Poly High who wish guidance in their vocational work. The students are counseled in their selection of vocations by means of vocational and aptitude testing. Job placement is in line with interests and aptitudes.

This year forty-five trainees are placed in twenty businesses. While training is the foundation of the D.E. program, it is interesting to know that the Poly community is $84,929.00 richer as a result of this training. These students who graduate with their regular class, take the required subjects and D.E. Each afternoon and on Saturdays they work in their regular training stations at beginning wage rates.

DEDICATION

Mrs. Hattie Frey

Because she has love and respect for every human being,

Because she polishes the sometimes dull and routine task of education into a bright and beckoning challenge,

Because of her spirit of optimism,

Because the warmth and strength of her personality surmount any physical weakness,

Because she is an understanding friend and mentor in solving the difficult problem of growing-up,

Because she so wholly believes in each one of us,

Because of her tireless work with and for us,

We, the Staff, hereby dedicate the 1957 Parrot to one who will always live in our hearts—Mrs. Hattie Frey.

Dear Gary,
Since you didn't even come me a space I just don't think I'll say anything nice But, 'cause all my thoughts about you are nice thoughts I guess I will. I can't believe that I didn't even know you last year - is there anyone I know better. Sometimes I can't understand you at all - But that's my fault. I have had more fun, good times, wonderful moments, amazing moments, than I have ever known. You possess the power to make me happier or sadder than anyone I would thank, is you - I thank you for the most wonderful year of my life I thank you for putting up with me when I know I was unbearable, I know I can never forget you (or want to either) & I'll always hold nothing but love, respect and admiration for you & it is my strongest wish that life for you is as wonderful as you have made it for me. Love always, Bev Jones Don't forget

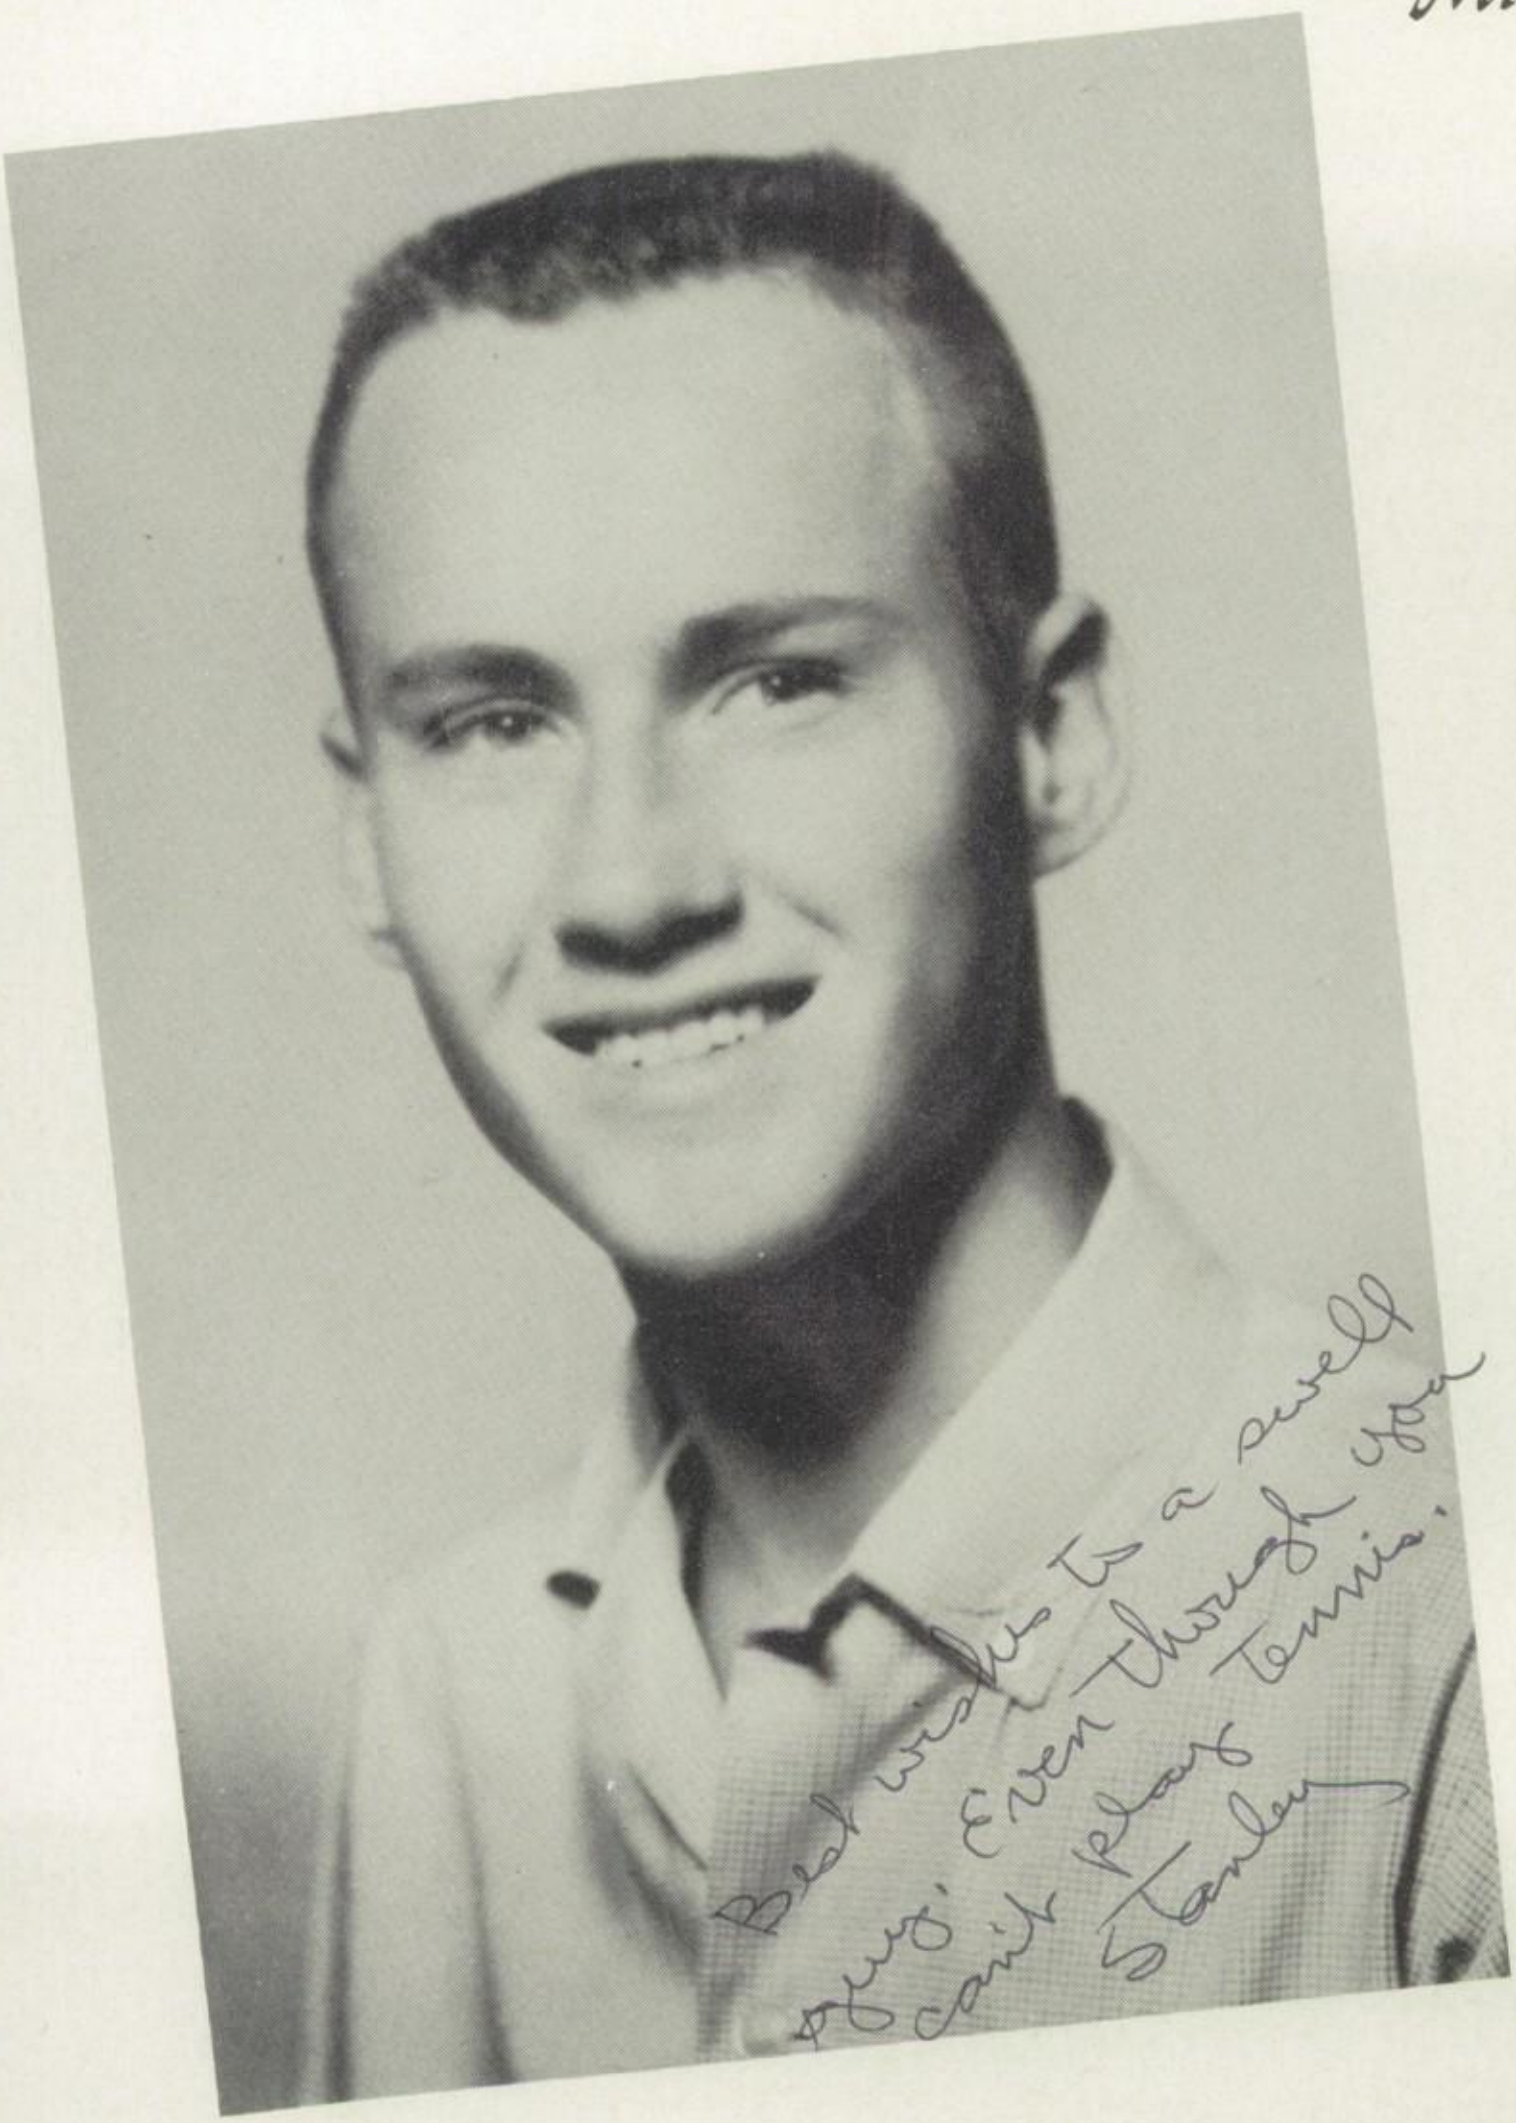
Mr. Poly of 1957



Stanley Cook

The quiet but bright smile of Stanley Cook has become a stationary feature of Poly. All time off from his seven-hour working day — plus a full scholastic load — is devoted to Poly. Alert to the call, Stan is always ready to help out anywhere and anytime those who are in need. His courage and devotion are perfect qualifications for his selection as Mr. Poly of 1957.

Miss Poly of 1957

Lois Hartman

Always ready to help when she is needed, could very well be the motto of Lois Hartman. Her untiring efforts toward dear old PHS have endeared her to all. It is this willingness to work, asking only a smile in return, that has earned for her the title of "Miss Poly of 1957." A worker behind the scenes, but still deeply appreciated, Lois's devotion to Poly and all the Parrots will always be remembered. Thus we salute a person who has left her name, not in the spotlight, but in the hearts of Parrotville, Lois Hartman, Miss Poly of 1957.

The traditional homecoming began at Poly with Exes arriving as school began and continuing throughout the day. Classes from 1918 to 1956 were represented. Parrot spirit rose to new heights as the day progressed. Queen Nancy Neace reigned over the pageantry — beginning with her presentation at the gigantic pep rally by Darryl Albertson, lasting through the evening's pigskin contest with Paschal. Footballer Albertson presented Queen Nancy with a bouquet of red roses at half time.

Fond memories of Poly returned as—for a day—Exes became students again for Homecoming, 1957.

Homecoming 1957

Nancy Neace

Basketball Queen

Royalty was added to Rank as Queen Marletta Mallicote assumed her reign over the affairs of the Parrot Roundballers. Selected by the team, Marletta was presented at the Student-Faculty Basketball Game in the school gym December 20, 1956. From Sophomore Vice President to Junior R. O. T. C. Sponsor, followed by Senior Cheerleader, her list of activities is rounded up in the 1957 "Who's Who" of Parrotville.

King and Queen of Hearts

King of Hearts Gene Bloomfield wears his crown with a twinkle in his eye and a broad smile on his lips. Gene has been well known all over Poly as Football Captain and Golf Captain. As a Sophomore, Gene was elected Class Favorite and as a Senior, he was selected Class Favorite Finalist.

Queen of Hearts Sally Coates will be well remembered by her admiring classmates for her gay, lively personality and her never-failing friendship. Always active, Sally was in National Honor Society, Leti, Allied Youth, Junior Red Cross, Rhythm, Parrot Staff and was Secretary of Future Teachers.

Members of the royal court included Eddie Brandt, Carole Graves, Don Anders, Mari McKey, Roma Lou Mansel, Charlie Culberson, Janet Webb, and Boyd Ray Branch.

Reserve Officers Training Corps

Upholding their creed of duty well performed, honor in all things, and country before self, Poly's R. O. T. C. unit develops leadership qualities in American youth. As each cadet is given an opportunity to develop leadership through his own efforts, courtesy, honesty, and respect for constituted authority are stressed as the main goals of the unit. The cadets are under observation during their training and officers are chosen on the basis of character, attention to duty, leadership in drill, knowledge of military subjects and loyalty to their units. Under the direction of sergeants Robert Ralls and Jack Colclasure, the Parrot R. O. T. C. unit has developed rapidly.

Richard Hester, the officer who wears the three diamonds on his shoulders, is the highest ranking officer in the R. O. T. C. Units in the city of Fort Worth. Colonel Hester achieved this rank through a city-wide military test among high ranking officers.

MRS. EVELYN REEVES

1956-57 Cheerleaders

Mrs. Evelyn Reeves is a mainstay of Parrotville. Always willing to give her time and talent, she has endeared herself to all who know her. Her extra-curricular activities often go unnoticed, for she is shy about blowing her own horn. Nevertheless, she is appreciated beyond mere "thanks!"

Leading our cheering section this year were eight peppy cheerleaders. Sponsored by Mrs. Evelyn Reeves, her "chilluns" spent hours in practice, which made them the fine team they are.

These students must maintain an "A" in Citizenship and be passing in all courses, in order to hold their office.

The Senior Cheerleaders are Marletta Mallicote, Joe Taulman, Roma Lou Mansel, and Don Cartwright.

The Juniors elected are Suzie Bauer and Terry Woolridge.

Representing the Sophs are Judy Taylor and Stacy Jackson.

never regarded as an easy victory. Though the game scores don't indicate a successful season we feel much was accomplished by the Parrots' fighting spirit and determination to play clean football.

The Parrots added two new members to their coaching staff, Line Coach Jack Gunlock and B Coach Tommy Taylor. These two added spice to the Parrot attack and gave the boys added confidence.

Team Managers Bobby Pickle, Harry Tyson, Bill Childress, and Tommy Gibson had their hands full in handling the Parrots' mishaps and frequent injuries.

Starting with only one returning regular, Eddie Brandt, with which to build, Coach Jack Harley began the task of building a starting five to enter this year's City Conference basketball race. After much experimenting with new lineups and hour upon hour of practice Coach Harley came up with just the right amount of skill, speed, and punch it would take to take the City crown for the third consecutive year. Perhaps the high point of the conference season was the Parrots' one point win over Carter Riverside 66 to 65. Poly had beaten Carter 65 to 58 in the first-round game. The Parrots took Paschal by breezing by the Panthers 60-37. The second-round game was cancelled with the Panthers. The North Side Steers bit the dust

54-40 and 67-46 in their first and second contests, respectively, with Parrots. The Harley Roundballers took Heights 66-50 in the first tilt and squeezed by 53-51 in the second. Tech was easily beaten 59-50 in the first game but proved to be troublesome in the second. The second game was terrific, resulting in a tie at the end of the scheduled thirty-two minutes which called for five minute overtime period—which also ended in a tie. This called for a "sudden death" playoff which meant that the first team scoring two points wins the contest. The Parrots again came through when the chips were down, 52-50.

Filling in during the period between the final conference game and the bi-district game, Coach Taylor scheduled two practice games with highly favored Sunset, of Dallas. The Parrots won the first of the two games while dropping the second.

Much credit is due Coach Tommy Taylor. As B-team coach and Coach Harley's understudy, Coach Taylor became head coach overnight when Harley was seriously burned in a fire at his home. Taylor's able guidance was displayed when his B-boys went the complete season without a defeat, and was further displayed with his fine job of filling in for Coach Harley.

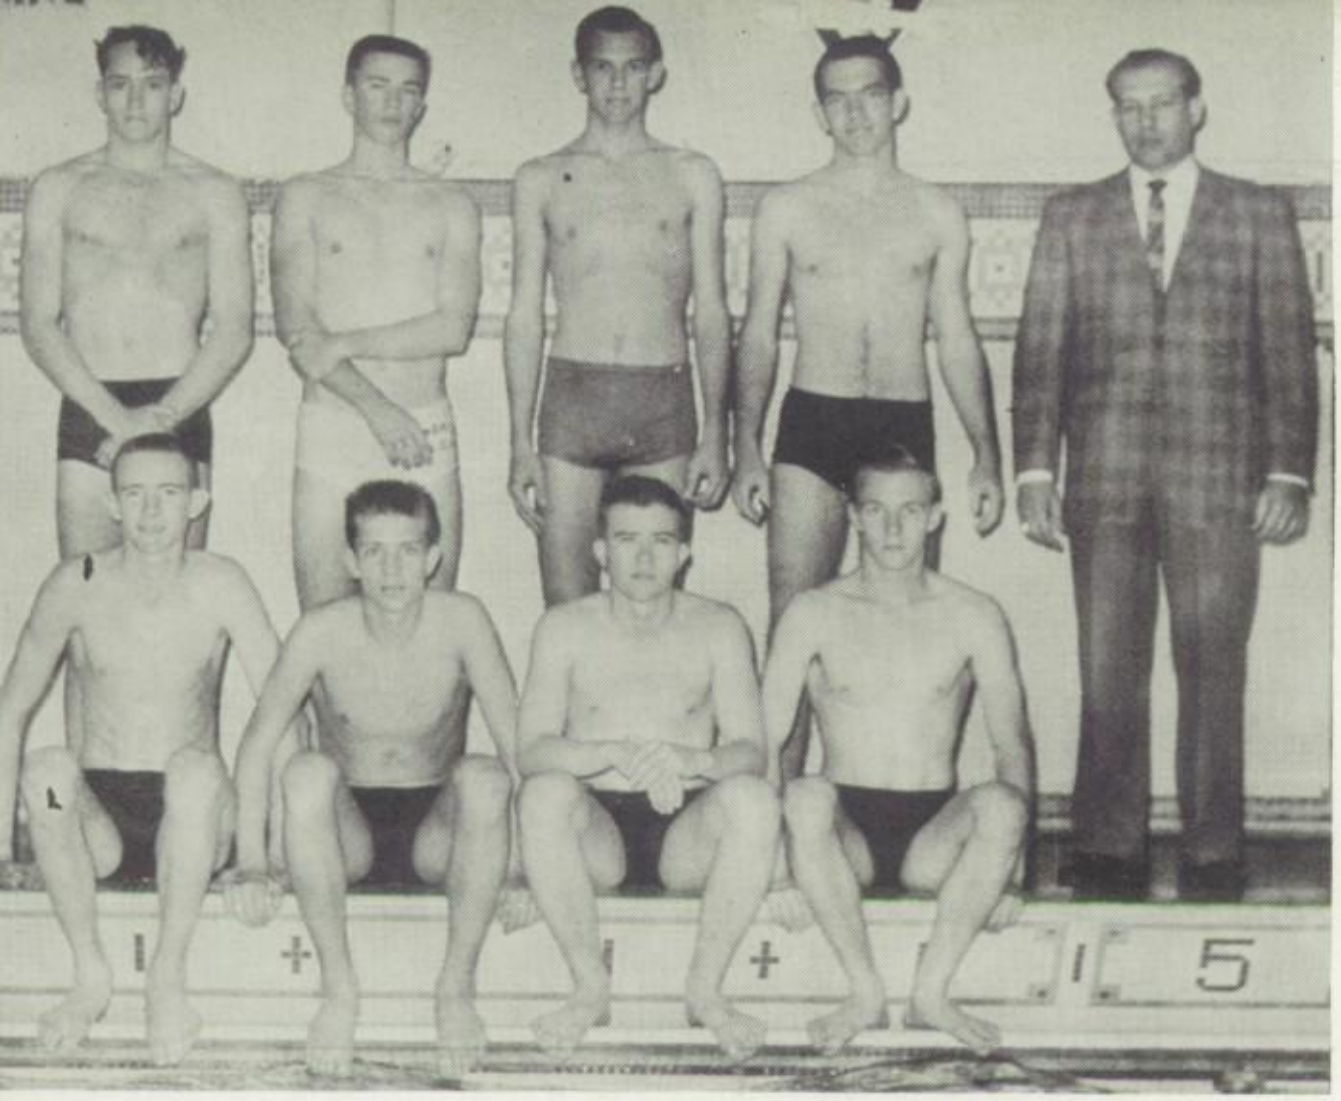
Track

Led by new track coach, Jack Gunlock, Poly's 1957 track team is well on its way toward another outstanding season. It should be strong in the high jump, mile relay, 880 run and broad jump.

Returning tracksters are Don Norrell, Eugene Mayes, Buck Dean, and Bill Shannon.

Swimming



Row 1. Bill Briggs, Jim Morton, John Moore, Charles Corry.
Row 2. Paul Recer, Sonny Overton, Gerry Carter, Hugh Parmer, captain; Bob McClinick, coach.

Starting the season rather slowly, Poly's young swimming team had just begun to reach its peak when this annual went to press. After a crushing defeat in the Wichita Falls Invitational Meet the tanksters came back to seize the runnerup spot in the Region 2 YMCA Championship Meet. Ahead of these swimmers lay the State High School Meet and the YMCA Tri-State Meet.

Tennis

The tennis team, under the direction of Miss Mary Nell White, has competed in the Wichita Falls Tournament. They have played two matches with Woodrow Wilson of Dallas and four matches with other schools in town. The team is hoping to top some places in the All-City Tournament this April.

Row 1. Will Wright, Zack Prince, Danny Shiner, Bobbie Sims, Julie Kesmodel, Carol Wilson, Ronnie Thorn, Morris Jones, Lee Roy Cotten.
Row 2. Julian McCurtain, Sandra Seemann, Jeanine Francis, Carol Lunsford, Linda Shelton, Jo Le Rue Black, Dixie Eudey, Linda Tullos, Barbara Riley, Kitty Farrar, Kathy Lagow.

in Parrotville

Summer ended, school started, and over 1600 Parrots appeared, complete with paper, pencil, and with one ultimate thought in mind—Graduation. Scared-stiff Sophomores, Enthusiastic Juniors, and Smug Seniors all crammed into Poly, registered, and settled down for a nine-month session with the three R's.

Are you awake, Jerry?

Editor's Note

After months of collecting, writing, and compiling, here is your 1957 Parrot.

It has been enjoyable working on and watching as this book has changed from a pile of paper and pictures scattered on a desk to its present form.

As you thumb through these pages both now and in the years to come it is my hope that the memories of your friends and of the good times you had while at Poly will once more be made clear and vivid. When you are in a mood to reminisce may this book serve as a vehicle into the past to bring back in a sentimental flood, the facts, faces, and fun of one of your years at Parrotland.

And now I would like to thank the staff: Mike McKinney, Assistant Editor; Pat Emerson, Sally Coates, Class Editors; Joanna Taulman, Feature Editor; Brenda Keeton, Club Editor; Robin Watkins, Jerry Mabe, Hugh Parmer, Sports Editors; Phil Vinson, Photographer; and Bill Gunn, Business Manager, for working so hard to make an idea into a reality.

On behalf of the staff I extend heartfelt thanks to Mrs. Hattie Frey for her tireless patience and support. And also to the student body and faculty for their cooperation and for their acceptance of this annual.

Line Of Thanks

No true chronicle of school activities would be complete without a word of thanks to those business men and women who help the staff deliver the finished product into student hands. Working closely with these people, we have become very appreciative of their efforts which went far beyond the normal business relationships. So, may we say a heartfelt "Thank You" to . . . .

C. L. HIGHTOWER and LILLIAN MOBLEY—who helped us develop the nucleus of an idea into a full fledged dream. Ever ready to guide and suggest, they made this production of THE PARROT a most pleasant experience . . .

L. E. SLAWSON—the man behind the flashbulbs, who gave freely of his great talent and time so that all pictures would truly reflect life "on the hill" . . . .

MR. and MRS. ALLEN ORGAIN—class photographers supreme, who patiently and painstakingly posed, shuttered and classified some 1300 Parrots . . .

LYNN WORRALL, American Beauty Cover Company representative, who got all "fired up" over our cover and theme and gave us service far beyond our normal expectations.
